Murray Richter

Author Bio

From the first second he held a fishing pole, Murray was hooked. To this day, he can't pass a body of water without wondering what kind of fish (or bait) are cruising around in it. He also loves a good joke, and playing jokes on people - which is why he rarely answers his phone or opens email around April Fool's day!

Murray graduated from the University of Texas with a degree in Journalism, and once heard a really smart person say, "Readers are leaders." He hopes his readers agree.
